

CONTENTS

Abbreviations	xiii
Bunyan's Writings	xv
Some Dates	xix
I. Bunyan's England: 1628–1688	1
1. The English Revolution	3
2. The Rich, the Poor, and the Middling Sort	16
3. Popular Literature	28
II. From Elstow to Newport Pagnell and Back	39
4. The Bunyans	41
5. In the Army	45
Newport Pagnell—Paul Hobson—Back to Elstow
III. Grace Abounding and the 1650s	61
6. Grace Abounding to the Chief of Sinners	63
Spiritual Autobiography—The Battle of the Texts—The Lost Inheritance
7. Ranters and Quakers	75
8. Early Writings	85
Anti-Quaker Pamphlets, 1656–1657—Dives and Lazarus
9. Bunyan and the Bedford Congregation	90
The Congregation—Millenarianism
IV. Holding On	101
10. Preaching and Imprisonment	103
11. Adapting to the Restoration	111
'Normality' Restored—In Jail
12. The Tinker and the Latitudinarians	125
The Subversive Bible—Bunyan and Edward Fowler—Tinkers, Education, and Literature

13.	The Church after the Restoration Bunyan and his Congregation—Millenarianism again	144
V.	Bunyan's Theology	155
14.	Some Influences Luther and Foxe—Arthur Dent (d. 1607)—Lewis Bayly (d. 1631)—Richard Bernard (1567–1641)—William Dell (? 1607–1669)—John Owen (1616–1683)—The Bible	157
15.	Covenant Theology The Protestant Heritage—The Will for the Deed—The Metaphors of Bunyan's Covenant Theology	170
16.	Social Uses of Hell-fire	183
17.	Antinomianism	188
VI.	Bunyan's Major Creative Period: 1678–1686	195
18.	The Pilgrim's Progress The Allegory and its Antecedents—Sweating Work—From this World to That Which is to Come—Progress, Circular, Linear, and Psychological—Satire and Vanity Fair—Christian's Wife and Children	197
19.	The Life and Death of Mr. Badman	231
20.	The Holy War Allegory and Epic—Sources for the Epic—The Holy War and Bedford Corporation	240
21.	Music, Singing, and Poetry Music—Poems	260
22.	Self-denial and Humility Self-denial—Songs in The Pilgrim's Progress	275
VII.	Last Years, Dangerous Years	281
23.	Bunyan's Printers	283
24.	The Palace Beautiful Baptism and the Church—Bunyan and the Woman Question—'Prayerless Professors'	292
25.	Kings and Antichrist: Seeming Delays	310
26.	Posthumous Writings: 'Who bid the boar come here?'	323

Contents		xi
VIII. Life after Death: 1688 Onwards		335
27. Bunyan and Dissent		337
28. Bunyan and Popular Culture		348
Between Two Cultures—Prose and Verse—Bunyan and Milton
29. Bunyan and the World		367
Bunyan the Man—Bunyan's Contemporary Reputation—'Behold it was a Dream'
Appendix
The Radicalism of the New Model Army and the Existence of the Ranters		381
Index		383