

CONTENTS

Introduction	vii
Tribute
George Mackay Brown: The Burning Harp	3
Biographical
Francis Russell Hart: Neil M. Gunn: A Brief Memoir	9
Neil Paterson: A Friendship	61
Individual Works
John Ross: Early Tides: The First Novels	71
Marie-Hélène Rescanières: Scottish Saga: Sun Circle and Butcher's Broom	88
Douglas Gifford: The Source of Joy: Highland River	101
Alexander Scott: Folk Epic: The Silver Darlings	123
Donald Campbell: True Imagination: The Silver Darlings	141
Gillian Shepherd: The Way to Wisdom: Young Art and Old Hector	157
Andrew Noble: Fable of Freedom: The Green Isle of the Great Deep	175
George Bruce: Handling the Unbearable: The Serpent and The Drinking Well	217
Francis Russell Hart: Comedy and Transcendence in Neil Gunn's Later Fiction	239

Stewart Conn: The Well of Delight	258
James Aitchison: The Quick Movement of Affection: Neil M. Gunn's Short Stories, Plays and Essays	271

General

J. B. Pick: The Boy in the Stream: The Development of Some Fundamental Concepts in the Work of Neil M. Gunn	295
Kurt Wittig: Neil Gunn's Animistic Vision	316
Alexander Reid: Neil Gunn's Mysticism	344
Hugh MacDiarmid: Neil Gunn and the Scottish Renais- sance	360
James B. Caird: Neil Gunn and Scottish Fiction	370

Bibliographical

W. R. Aitken: Neil M. Gunn: A Bibliography	389
Contributors	399

(Between pages 216 and 217 and 248 and 249 there are a number of portraits of Neil M. Gunn, of his wife and contemporary writers, and of his landscape.)