

Contents

Illustrations	ix
Abbreviations	xvii
Acknowledgements	xviii
Preface	xxi
Foreword	xxiii
1 Prolegomena	1
The landscape profession in Britain in the 1930s	3
The landscape architectural and city planning professions in the USA in the 1930s	8
PART I
Biography	13
2 Britain	15
Tunnard's background and character	15
Working with Percy Cane and Frank Clark	16
Articles in Landscape and Garden	20
St Ann's Hill and the landscape garden	20
Christopher Tunnard, landscape architect	23
The Architectural Review articles	29
London life	33
Gardens in the Modern Landscape	34
The ILA and the offer by Harvard	36
3 America	48
The ethos of Harvard GSD	48
Teaching at GSD	51
What kind of new landscape?	53

The shift to city planning	57
The City Planning section at Yale	60
The Graduate Program in City Planning	62
The Department of City Planning	71
PART II
Landscape and urbanism	81
4 A technique for the twentieth century	83
Constructivism and the landscape garden	83
The Functional Approach	85
The Empathic Approach	95
The Artistic Approach	105
The Planter's Eye	112
Space arrangements	115
5 Landscape design	123
Landscape designs in England	123
Landscape designs in America	165
6 Civic art and design	181
History and continuity	182
The social landscape	191
Experimentation and collaboration	202
Civic design	208
Intangibles and values	222
7 From Wisley to A World with a View: the metamorphosis of a landscape architect	232
Annex A: Brief biographical facts	241
Annex B: Tunnard's principal landscape designs	243
Annex C: Tunnard's writings	245
Annex D: Bibliography	249
Index	255