

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
Preface: Walpole moves from Strawberry Hill to Connecticut	xiii
Introduction: ‘Things come to light’: Experiment and Experience – The Philosophical and Cultural Context	1
‘A confusion of wine and bawdy and hunting and tobacco’: Walpole’s Recollection and Reputation	7
1 ‘The Pleasures of the Imagination’: Tropes of Taste	29
‘How history pleases the imagination’: The Effects of Association	40
‘One must have taste to be sensible of the beauties of Grecian architecture; one only wants passion to feel Gothic’: Walpole and Gothic Architecture	46
‘A Man might make a pretty Landskip of his own Possessions’: The Spectator in the Landscape	51
2 ‘Giving an idea of the spirit of the times’: Anecdotes and Antiquarianism	73
‘It is the history of our architecture I should search after, especially of the beautiful Gothic’: Anecdotes and Architecture	79
‘Apollo of the Arts’: Walpole and Burlington – Arbiters of Taste	100
‘Gothic Pilgrimages’: In Search of the ‘Beautiful Gothic’	104
3 ‘I am going to build a little Gothic Castle at Strawberry Hill’: Creation of a Seat – Part 1	129
‘The castle (I am building) of my ancestors’: History and Aesthetic Effects at Strawberry Hill	160
‘Mr Walpole is very ready to oblige any curious persons with the sight of his house and collection’: Visiting Strawberry – a Walk through History	163

4	'The art of creating landscape': Creation of a Seat – Part 2	219
	'The enclosed enchanted little landscape then is Strawberry Hill': Creating a Place for the Imagination	233
	'The gay but tranquil scene': Experiencing Strawberry Hill	245
	Epilogue: 'A genius is original, invents. Taste selects, perhaps copies with judgement'	277
	Select Bibliography and Further Reading	285
	Index	297