

H.D. and Hellenism

Classic Lines

---

EILEEN GREGORY
University of Dallas

Contents

---

---

Acknowledgments	page ix
Introduction	I
Part I: Contexts
1 Modern Classicism and the Theater of War	11
Romantic, Classic, Modern	15
Aeschylus versus Euripides	22
War and Nostalgia	28
2 The Survival of the Classics	38
The Alexandrian Project	43
Transmission and the Female Line	52
Touring with Father: H.D. and Pausanias	66
3 Pagan Mysteries: Walter Pater and Romantic Hellenism	75
Hermeticism and the Exiled Gods	78
Ascesis : Crystal and Salt	85
The Dorian Model and White Eroticism	90
4 Anthropology and the Return of the Gods: Jane Ellen Harrison	108
Keres	112
Korai	114
Dionysos at Eleusis: Sacred Marriage and Sacred Child	118
Dromenon and Drama	122

Part II: Classical Intertextuality

5	H.D. and the Classical Lyric	129
	"Perfected Subtle Breath of Metre": Euripidean Choros	139
	"Little, but All Roses": Fragments of Sappho	148
	"Adequately Alexandrian": Theocritus and the Greek Anthology	161
	"His Wine-Dark Sea ": Homer and the Heroic	173
6	Euripides: Dream Time and Dream Work	179
	Initiations: Choruses and Essays (1915-1924)	183
	Thresholds: Hippolytus Temporizes (1927)	194
	Mourning the Mother: Electra-Orestes (1932-1934)	199
	Etiology: Euripides' Ion (1935, Published 1937)	205
	Eidolon: Helen in Egypt (1952-1955, Published 1961)	218
Appendix:	Classical Texts in H.D.'s Collected Poems, 1912-1944	233
	A Descriptive Catalogue by Poem	234
	A Summary by Author	253
Notes		259
Works Cited		285
Index		303