

ROBERT FROST

studies of the poetry

Edited with an Introduction by
Kathryn Gibbs Harris

G.K.HALL & CO.

70 LINCOLN STREET, BOSTON, MASS.

Contents

Introduction	xi
Acknowledgments	xix
I FORM	xxi
The Difference Made for Prosody Donald J. Greiner	1
Language and Form in "Nothing Gold Can Stay" John A. Rea	17
II ATTITUDE	27
Sense of Place and Religious Consciousness Ronald Bieganowski	29
Detachment, Irony, and Commitment Marjorie Cook	49
III PROBLEMS	63
Bound Away—And Back Again Philip L. Gerber	65
"Not Unbounded" Clifford Lyons	77
Problems of Biography William A. Sutton	89
A Note on Bibliographical Problems Peter Van Egmond	95

IV BACKGROUND	99
Creative Borrowing: Auditory Memory and Latin Heritage Sister Jeremy Finnegan	101
A Road Taken: The Romantically Different Ruelle Robert F. Fleissner	117
A Way Out: Pastoral Psychodrama James K. Guimond	133
Lyric Impulse: Birds and Other Voices Kathryn G. Harris	143
Comic Exegete Nancy C. Joyner	157
The Greek World and the Mystery of Being James F. Knapp	165
Psychoanalytic Approaches to "Mending Wall" Mordecai Marcus	179
Index	191