

Contents

Foreword: Can We Not Talk about Sex All the Time?	ix
Acknowledgments	xii
Introduction: You Know Nothing of My Work	1

Act I

MORALITY, INTERPRETATION, AND THE MEANING OF LIFE	5
1. God, Suicide, and the Meaning of Life in the Films of Woody Allen MARK T. CONARD	7
2. Integrity in Woody Allen's Manhattan AEON J. SKOBLE	24
3. Does Morality Have to Be Blind? A Kantian Analysis of Crimes and Misdemeanors JAMES LAWLER	33
4. Arguing Interpretations: The Pragmatic Optimism of Woody Allen IAN JARVIE	48

Act II

WOODY'S CRAFT	67
5. The Mousetrap: Reading Woody Allen JAMES WALLACE	69
6. Woody on Aesthetic Appreciation JASON HOLT	89

7.	Art and Voyeurism in the Films of Woody Allen JEROLD ABRAMS	101
8.	"You Don't Deserve Cole Porter": Love and Music According to Woody Allen JAMES SOUTH	118
9.	Dead Sharks and Dynamite Ham: The Philosophical Use of Humor in Annie Hall LOU ASCIONE	132
10.	Reconstructing Ingmar: The Aesthetic Purging of the Great Model PER BROMAN	151
 Act III
	FIVE FILMS	167
11.	The Dangers of Hedonism: A Midsummer Night's Sex Comedy SANDER LEE	169
12.	Inauthenticity and Personal Identity in Zelig DAVID DETMER	186
13.	It's All Darkness: Plato, The Ring of Gyges, and Crimes and Misdemeanors JOHN PAPPAS	203
14.	Self Knowledge in Another Woman JILL GORDON	218
15.	Woody Allen's Film Noir Light: Crime, Love, and Self-Knowledge in The Curse of the Jade Scorpion MARY P. NICHOLS	243
	Entertainment for Intellectuals: A Woody Allen Filmography	259
	All These Great Minds . . . 261
	Index	265