

Ritashona Simpson

Black Looks & Black Acts

The Language of Toni Morrison in The Bluest Eye and Beloved

PETER LANG

New York • Washington, D.C./Baltimore • Bern
Frankfurt am Main • Berlin • Brussels • Vienna • Oxford

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	1
Chapter 1. Elements of Feeling, Silence, and Sound: The Grammar of Black and Standard English in The Bluest Eye	7
Chapter 2. The Evidence of Things Unseen <sup>1</sup> : The Shape of Orality in The Bluest Eye	27
Chapter 3. Writing and Speaking for the Other: The Formation of the Linguistic Body of the Slave Narratives and Beloved	49
Chapter 4. "And the Voice of His Words Like the Voice of a Multitude" <sup>2</sup> : Speaking and Writing for the Other Revisited	77
Conclusion	93
Notes	97
Bibliography	103