

Katherine Bastian

Joyce Carol
Oates's
Short Stories Between Tradition and Innovation

Verlag Peter Lang
FRANKFURT AM MAIN · BERN

TABLE OF CONTENTS

	page
ABBREVIATIONS	7
INTRODUCTION	9
I. RE-IMAGININGS OF OLD MASTERS OATES'S DEPENDENCY/INDEPENDENCY	15
1. Henry James's "The Turn of the Screw"	17
2. Franz Kafka's "The Metamorphosis"	27
3. Henry David Thoreau's "Walden"	37
4. James Joyce's "The Dead"	47
5. Anton Chekhov's "Lady With the Dog"	52
6. Summary	56
II. OATES AND TRADITIONAL SHORT STORY GENRES	59
1. Genre of the Extraordinary	61
a. Romantic versions of the extraordinary: Poe and Hawthorne as models	61
b. Realistic versions of the extraordinary: James as a model	77
2. Genre of Recognition	81
3. Genre of Initiation	89
a. Romantic versions of the initiation story	91
b. Realistic versions of the initiation story	99
4. Oates's Experiments With Traditional Genres	104
a. Experimental stories of the extraordinary	104
b. Experimental stories of recognition	114
c. Experimental stories of initiation	117
5. Summary	127
III. OATES'S SHORT STORY CYCLES	131
1. Thematic Cycles	135
2. Sequences	137
3. Summary	151
CONCLUSION	153
NOTES	157
BIBLIOGRAPHY	165