

Contents

Preface	page ix
Introduction: the Hegelian project in ideological perspective	1

PART I. PHILOSOPHY AND CULTURAL INTEGRATION: HEGEL IN CONTEXT

1. The origins of the Hegelian project: tensions in the father's world	13
2. Revolution and Romanticism: the generational context of Hegel's ideology of cultural integration	30
3. The reconciliation of Reason and reality: Hegel's differentiation from Romanticism	49

PART II. THE HISTORICAL APPROPRIATION OF THE ABSOLUTE: UNITY AND DIVERSITY IN THE HEGELIAN SCHOOL, 1805-1831

4. Hegel and Hegelianism: disciples and sympathizers in the formation of the Hegelian school	71
5. Hegelian politics during the Restoration: accommodation, critique, and historical transcendence	95
The experiential matrix of political Hegelianism	98
From conversion to accommodation	112
From conversion to historical critique	121
From conversion to historical transcendence	134
6. Christian religion and Hegelian philosophy during the Restoration: accommodation, critique, and historical transcendence	141
The appropriation of Hegel's philosophy of religion by the "old" Hegelians	141
Karl Rosenkranz and the reconstitution of the identity of religion and philosophy	155

Contents

Strauss and the historical tension between representation and concept	165
Ludwig Feuerbach and the historical transcendence of Christian culture	175

PART III. THE REDUCTION OF THE ABSOLUTE TO "MAN": THE DIVISION OF THE SCHOOL AND THE EMERGENCE OF THE HEGELIAN LEFT, 1830-1841

7. Right, Center, and Left: the division of the Hegelian school in the 1830s	203
The political and social context	207
From divergence to division: the evolution of Hegelianism, 1830-1840	217
The fundamentalist opposition: from pietistic inwardness to cultural restorationism	243
8. Strauss and the principle of immanence	255
9. Bruno Bauer and the reduction of absolute spirit to human self-consciousness	288
10. Feuerbach and the reduction of absolute spirit to human "species being"	327

EPILOGUE: BEYOND "MAN" - THE RISE AND FALL OF LEFT HEGELIAN HUMANISM

Notes	370
Bibliography	417
Index	439