

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	xi
Part One: Free Will versus Determinism
1 Workers and Slaves: The Rhetoric of Freedom in the Debate over Industrialism	3
2 The Providential Plot	36
3 Causality versus Conscience: The Problem of Form in Mary Barton	62
4 The Tailor Unraveled: The Unaccountable “I” in Kingsley’s Alton Locke: Tailor and Poet	88
Part Two: The Family versus Society
5 Family and Society: The Rhetoric of Reconciliation in the Debate over Industrialism	113
6 Family and Society: The Tropes of Reconciliation in Popular Industrial Narratives	127
7 “Relationship Remembered against Relationship Forgotten”: Family and Society in Hard Times and North and South	147
Part Three: Facts versus Values
8 The Politics of Representation and the Representation of Politics in the 1840s	187
9 The Politics of Culture and the Debate over Representation in the 1860s	219
Notes	269
Bibliography	295
Index	315