

EUROPE IN THE SIXTEENTH CENTURY

H. G. KOENIGSBERGER
and
GEORGE L. MOSSE

LONGMAN

Contents

	Page
I. INTRODUCTION	I
II. THE SOURCES	7
Increase of Source Material, p. 7 – Published Papers: Government and Diplomatic, p. 8 – Published Papers: Political and Administrative, p. 11 – The Changing Nature of Sources, p. 12 – Sources for Economic History, p. 13 – The Reformation, p. 14 – Popular Culture and the Humanists, p. 15 – Bibliographical Guides, p. 16 – The Writings of Protestant Reformers, p. 16 – The Radicals, p. 18 – Contemporary Histories, p. 18 – The Catholic Reformation, p. 19.
III. ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL LIFE	21
Rural Society in Europe in 1500, p. 21 – The Rise in Prices, p. 22 – American Treasure and Inflation, p. 27 – Population Growth, p. 28 – Population Pressure on Land, p. 30 – Wool Prices and Sheep Farming, p. 32 – Manufacturing and Building Industries, p. 34 – Wages and Prices, p. 36 – Social Consequences of Rising Prices, p. 38 – Social Consequences of Rising Prices: The Continent, p. 40 – Rural Society East of the Elbe, p. 43 – International Trade, p. 45 – Effects of Overseas Discoveries, p. 46 – Antwerp, p. 48 – Bankers and Governments, p. 52.
IV. TOWNS AND CITIES	54
The Social and Political Structure of Towns, p. 54 – The Contado, p. 58 – Vulnerability of City States: Florence, p. 59 – The End of the Florentine Republic, Guicciardini, p. 61 – Venice, p. 64 – Lübeck, p. 66 – The South German Cities, p. 68 – The Cities in the Netherlands and in France, p. 69 – Castile and the Revolt of the Comuneros, p. 70 – The Towns in Eastern Europe, p. 72 – The Social Composition of Town Councils, p. 72 – Four Types of Successful Cities, p. 73 – Paris, p. 75 – Rome, p. 76 – Importance of an Urban Nobility, p. 76 – Fortifications and Town Planning, p. 77.

	Page
V. CHRISTIANITY, POPULAR CULTURE AND HUMANISM	84
The Tenor of Life, p. 85 – Religious Sensibilities, p. 85 – Popular Piety and Prophecy, p. 87 – The Jews, p. 88 – Witches and Necromancers, p. 90 – The Church Accused, p. 91 – A 'Total Reformation', p. 92 – Savonarola, p. 94 – The Quest for Religious Safeguards, p. 96 – Sixteenth Century Humanism, p. 98 – The 'Devotio Moderna', p. 101 – Desiderius Erasmus, p. 103 – Thomas More, p. 106 – The Humanists and the Church, p. 107 – Niccolò Machiavelli, p. 109 – The 'Mirrors for Princes', p. 111.
VI. THE LUTHERAN REFORMATION	112
Martin Luther, p. 113 – Justification by Faith, p. 116 – The Church, p. 119 – Friends and Followers, p. 120 – The Radicals, p. 121 – The Peasants, p. 123 – The Peasants' War, p. 125 – The Münster Experiment, p. 126 – Anabaptists and Spiritualists, p. 127 – Luther and Worldly Authority, p. 128 – Culture and Community, p. 131.
VII. A CONTINUED REFORMATION	134
The 'Magisterial' Reformation, p. 134 – Huldreich Zwingli, p. 135 – Methods of Reform, p. 135 – Moral Discipline, p. 137 – The Establishment of the 'Reformed' Faith, p. 138 – Martin Bucer, p. 139 – John Calvin, p. 142 – French Humanism and Ecclesiastical Reform, p. 143 – Calvin as Reformer, p. 144 – Calvin's Political Thought, p. 148 – Calvin's Geneva, p. 149 – Ecclesiastical Discipline, p. 150 – Calvin's Social Thought, p. 152 – The Impact of Calvinism, p. 153.
VIII. CATHOLIC REFORMATION	155
The Need for Reform, p. 156 – The Jesuit Order, p. 158 – Popes and Reform, p. 162 – The Council of Trent, p. 164 – Popular Piety, p. 169 – Religion and the State, p. 172.
IX. EMPIRES	174
Three Empires with Universalist Claims in the First Half of the Sixteenth Century, p. 174 – The Empire of Charles V in Europe, p. 175 – Charles V, Luther and the Papacy, p. 178 – Habsburg Succession in Hungary and Bohemia, p. 179 – The Habsburg-Valois Rivalry, p. 180 – Different Conceptions of Empire, p. 182 – Continuing War with France and the Turks, p. 184 – The Problems of Germany and the Imperial Succession, p. 185 –

Charles V's Abdication, p. 188 – The Ottoman Empire, p. 188 – Limits of the Ottoman Empire, p. 191 – The Devshirme, p. 192 – Weaknesses of the Turkish System, p. 194 – Moscow, the Third Rome, p. 196 – The Tsars, p. 198 – Ivan IV's Conquests, p. 199 – The Defeat of the Boyars, p. 201 – Social and Political Results of Ivan IV's Reign, p. 202 – Russian Imperialism, p. 203 – The Portuguese Overseas Empire and Its Justification, p. 203 – Race Relations in the Portuguese Empire, p. 207 – The Spanish Overseas Empire and Its Justification, p. 208 – The Treatment of the American Indians: Bartolomé de las Casas, p. 210.

X. THE MONARCHIES

212

Nationalism in the Sixteenth Century, p. 212 – Loyalties, Motives and Aims in European Politics, p. 215 – Dynastic Policies and the Nobility, p. 217 – The Unions of Crowns, p. 218 – Gustavus Vasa, p. 219 – Poland-Lithuania, p. 222 – The Monarchies of Western Europe, p. 224 – Relations Between Church and State, p. 225 – The Problems of Finance, p. 226 – The Sale of Offices; Loans, p. 227 – Taxation: Spain, p. 228 – Taxation: France, p. 230 – Administration, p. 231 – The Personnel of Government, p. 233 – Salaries, Profits, Patronage and Corruption, p. 234 – State and Church in England, p. 237 – Wolsey and Cromwell, p. 238 – The Henrician Settlement, p. 240 – Edward VI and the Church, p. 241 – The Catholic Restoration, p. 242.

XI. WESTERN EUROPE IN THE AGE OF PHILIP II

245

The Peace of Cateau-Cambrésis, p. 245 – The Spread of Calvinism, p. 247 – The Problems of Minority and Female Successions, p. 249 – The Huguenots: Condé and Coligny, p. 250 – Catherine de Medici; The French Civil Wars, p. 251 – The Massacre of St Bartholomew, p. 253 – Philip II in Spain: The Morisco Problem, p. 254 – The Crisis in the Netherlands, p. 256 – Alva in the Netherlands, p. 259 – The Revolt of Holland and Zeeland: William of Orange, p. 260 – The Pacification of Ghent, p. 261 – The Unions of Arras and Utrecht, p. 262 – Spain Takes the Offensive: Portugal, p. 263 – Henry III and the League, p. 264 – English Intervention in the Netherlands, p. 265 – The 'Enterprise of England', p. 266 – The Problem of a Huguenot Succession to the French Throne, p. 268 – Henry IV and the End of the Civil Wars in France, p. 269 – The Revolutionary Parties of the Sixteenth Century, p. 270 – Spain at War with England, France and the United Provinces, p. 271.

XII. POLITICAL THEORY AND RELIGIOUS STRIFE

275

The Spread of the Reformation, p. 275 – Theories of Resistance in France, p. 277 – The Covenant, p. 278 – John Knox and Scotland, p. 280 – The Political Thought of the Exiles, p. 281 – Catholic Theories of Resistance, p. 282 – Sovereignty and the Divine Right of Kings, p. 283 – Christianity and Political Action, p. 286 – Evolution of Radicalism, p. 287 – The Logic of Peter Ramus, p. 289 – Italian Heretics, p. 290 – The Socinians, p. 291 – Giordano Bruno, p. 292 – Orthodoxy and Tolerance, p. 293 – The Elizabethan Church, p. 295 – The Puritans, p. 296 – The Elizabethan Settlement, p. 298 – Protestant Opposition to the Emperor, p. 301 – The Rise of Scepticism, p. 302.

XIII. LITERATURE AND THE AGE

305

Publishing in the Sixteenth Century, p. 306 – Romances, p. 307 – Pastoral Themes, p. 309 – The Novella, p. 310 – Don Quixote, p. 311 – Humour and Irony, p. 312 – François Rabelais, p. 313 – The Development of the Theatre, p. 314 – Shakespeare and Lope de Vega, p. 317 – Classical Drama, p. 318 – Lyric Poetry, p. 319 – Regional and Devotional Literature, p. 320 – Books of Devotion, p. 322.

XIV. FROM RENAISSANCE TO BAROQUE:

ART, MUSIC AND SCIENCE

324

The Art of the High Renaissance in Italy, p. 325 – Breakdown of the Social and Psychological Basis of Renaissance Art, p. 326 – Artistic Rebellion and Quest for Security – Mannerism, p. 329 – The Beginnings of the Baroque, p. 331 – Art in Venice, p. 332 – The Renaissance in Germany, p. 333 – The Decline of German Art, p. 335 – The Netherlands, p. 336 – England: Court Art and Miniatures, p. 337 – French Art and the Influence of Italy, p. 338 – Spanish Art and the Counter-Reformation, p. 339 – The Pre-Eminence of the Netherlands School of Music, p. 340 – Music in Italy, Development of Musical Harmony, p. 342 – Theories of Good and Bad Music, p. 343 – Music and Painting in Venice, p. 345 – The Invention of Opera, p. 345 – Italian Music in the Baroque Era, p. 346 – Music in France, p. 347 – Music in England, p. 348 – Music in Germany, p. 349 – The World Picture in

CONTENTS

	Page
1500, p. 351 – The Contribution of the Renaissance Painters, p. 352 – The Importance of Practical Problems, p. 353 – Classical Greek Treatises, p. 354 – Copernicus, p. 356 – Tycho Brahe, p. 357 – Kepler, p. 358 – Platonism and the Importance of Mathematics, p. 359 – Collapse of the Medieval World Picture, p. 360 – Increasing interest in Science, p. 361 – The Politique Spirit and the Quest for Harmony, p. 362 – Galileo, p. 364.
APPENDIX I	368
Chronological List of Political Events
APPENDIX II	375
Genealogical Tables
The House of Medici	375
The House of Tudor	376
The House of Vasa	377
Kings of Poland	378
The Houses of Valois and Bourbon	379
The Family of Charles V	380
The House of Orange-Nassau	381
Ottoman Sultans	382
The Houses of Rurik and Romanov	382
The Popes of the Sixteenth Century	383
INDEX	385