

Contents

	Introduction	vii
1	The establishment of educational psychology	1
2	The emerging profession: post-war developments	20
3	Psychometrics, professional survival and the traditional practitioner paradigm	40
4	Knowledge in practice: a questionnaire and interview study	59
5	The non-directive style	86
6	The behavioural approach	106
7	Sociological and radical alternatives	122
	Appendix 1 Letter to educational psychologists	151
	Appendix 2 The questionnaire on professional knowledge	152
	Appendix 3 Questionnaire results	156
	References	161
	Unpublished Documents	169
	Index	171