

FRENCH FOREIGN POLICY SINCE 1945

An Introduction

FRÉDÉRIC BOZO

Translated by Jonathan Hensher

berghahn
NEW YORK • OXFORD
www.berghahnbooks.com

CONTENTS

List of Tables	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
PART I THE ERA OF FRUSTRATION (1945–1958)
Chapter 1 France's Difficult Entry into the Cold War	7
Chapter 2 French Powerlessness	24
PART II CHALLENGING THE STATUS QUO (1958–1969)
Chapter 3 Re-establishing France's 'Rank'	43
Chapter 4 Challenging the Established Order	55
Chapter 5 The Apogee of de Gaulle's Grand Policy	68
PART III MANAGING DE GAULLE'S LEGACY (1969–1981)
Chapter 6 Opting for Continuity	81
Chapter 7 The Education of a President	97
PART IV THE END OF THE COLD WAR (1981–1995)
Chapter 8 New Cold War, New Détente	115
Chapter 9 The End of 'Yalta'	130

PART V FRANCE AND GLOBALIZATION (1995–2015)

Chapter 10	In Search of a Multipolar World	151
Epilogue	From Sarkozy to Hollande	177
Appendix		193
Bibliography		199
Index		213