
CONTENTS

Illustrations	vii
Tables	ix
Preface	xi
Acknowledgments	xiii
Introduction	xv
1. Women's Colleges: The Entering Wedge	1
2. Doctorates: Infiltration and Creative Philanthropy	29
3. "Women's Work" in Science	51
4. A Manly Profession	73
5. The Women's Movement, the War, and Madame Curie	100
6. Growth, Containment, and Overqualification	129
7. Academic Employment: Protest and Prestige	160
8. Government Employment: Paper Reforms but Expanded Segregation	218
9. Industrial and Other Employment: Stoicism, Versatility, and Vocational Guidance	248
10. Double Standards and Underrecognition: Territorial and Hierarchical Discrimination	267
11. Women's Clubs and Prizes: Compensatory Recognition	297
Conclusion	313
Abbreviations	317
Notes	319
Bibliography	399
Index	417