

Table of contents

Introduction	VII
Ernestina Carrilho, Alexandra Fiéis, Maria Lobo & Sandra Pereira
The obviation agreement effect	1
Alejo Alcaraz
Pseudo-relatives and their left-periphery: A unified account	23
Jan Casalicchio
Explicative clauses in Portuguese as a case of parentheses	43
Madalena Colaço & Gabriela Matos
When imperfections are perfect: Prosody, phi-features and deixis in Central and Southern Italian vocatives	61
Roberta D'Alessandro & Marc van Oostendorp
Why are distributive readings dispreferred?	83
Carmen Dobrovie-Sorin, Emilia Ellsiepen & Barbara Hemforth
Against deficiency-based typologies: Manner-alternation parameters in Italian and English	103
Raffaella Folli & Heidi Harley
Case in Italian complex PPs	121
Jacopo Garzonio & Silvia Rossi
Yes/no interrogatives and focus in Sardinian	139
Guido Mensching
In defense of defective intervention: Locality effects in Romance	171
Mihaela Marchis Moreno & Carolina Petersen
Focus and the syntacticization of discourse	191
Geoffrey Poole
EPP and ECP revisited: The role of labeling	211
Luigi Rizzi
Intervention or phasal locality? Two ways of being local in French causative constructions	233
Alain Rouveret

Person features and functional heads: Evidence from an exceptional optative sentence in Ibero-Romance	259
Cristina Sánchez López
Variation and change in the Romance faire-par causative	279
Michelle Sheehan & Sonia Cyrino
The status of subject pronouns in Modern Standard French revisited	305
Michael Zimmermann
Index	325