

The Fabric of Indigeneity

Ainu Identity, Gender, and Settler Colonialism in Japan

ann-elise lewallen

School for Advanced Research Press
Santa Fe

University of New Mexico Press
Albuquerque

PREFACE	ix
ACKNOWLEDGMENTS	xiii
A NOTE ON STYLE	xix
INTRODUCTION Contemporary Self-Craft and Gendered Practices	1
CHAPTER ONE Indigenous Modernity	37
CHAPTER TWO Contemporary Practice and Contested Heritage	67
CHAPTER THREE The Clamor of Our Blood: The Politics of Belonging and Modern Ainu Identity	99
CHAPTER FOUR The “Gendering of Ethnicity” in Ainu Society	125
CHAPTER FIVE Embodied Knowledge	155
CHAPTER SIX In Lieu of Repatriation	179
EPILOGUE	213
NOTES	229
GLOSSARY	243
REFERENCES	249
INDEX	271

Color plates follow page 148