

Page CONTENTS

(i) Acknowledgements

(v) Summary

1 Chapter 1 THE NATURE OF THE THREAT
nature of the evidence • physical effects of nuclear weapons • nuclear weapon stockpiles • likely targets in Britain • immediate effects • delayed effects • conclusions

8 Chapter 2 REACTIONS TO DISASTER
analysis of human reactions to disasters • reactions of special groups • long term effects • case examples of disasters • the Black Death 1348-50 • nuclear disasters: Hiroshima and Nagasaki • summary and conclusions

33 Chapter 3 IMPLICATIONS OF DISASTER
RESEARCH FOR CIVIL DEFENCE
protect and survive • how will people react? • the nature and timing of the warning • nuclear strike without warning • unofficial warning • official warning • reactions as warnings intensify • rural and urban reactions • will people stay at home?
• effects of sheltering • summary and conclusions

43 Chapter 4 HUMAN FALLIBILITY AND NUCLEAR WEAPONS
approaches to risk assessment • decision-making and the prospects for rationality • the psychology of accidents • accident case histories • terrorism • the command and control of nuclear weapons • the contribution of militarism to fallibility • fallibility in political decision-making • risks of accidental nuclear war •
conclusions

80

Chapter 5 NEGOTIATIONS AND CONFLICT RESOLUTION

psychology's contribution to international conflict resolution ●
psychological aspects of crisis behaviour ● historical background
● crisis prevention ● theory into practice ● new approaches to nuclear negotiations ● some practical suggestions: a reflection on the research evidence ● remaining difficulties ● summary and
conclusions

108

References

121

Index