

Contents

Editors' note
Contributors

1	Thomas A. Markus Rehumanizing the dehumanized	1
I	Housing in context: concepts, language, discourse
2	Necdet Teymur The pathology of housing discourse	19
3	Thomas A. Markus From Tudor Walters to Parker Morris: prescription in housing design	32
4	Mike Jenks Housing problems and the dangers of certainty	53
II	Housing as context: design, space, management
5	Bill Hillier Against enclosure	63
6	Michael Jones Utopia and reality: the Utopia of public housing and its reality at Broadwater Farm	89
7	Marjorie Bulos and Steve Walker A call for intensive management: the UK experience.	101
8	Tom Woolley Do tenants want to manage the problems?	111
9	Marion Roberts Caretaking—who cares?	123
III	Housing as ideology: reality, utopia, history
10	Francis M. Jones Technology and social needs	135
11	Peter Malpass Utopia in context: state, class and the restructuring of the housing market in the twentieth century	142
12	Alison Ravetz Malaise, design and history: scholarship and experience on trial	154
13	John Carter Private answers to public questions	166
14	Alan Lipman and Howard Harris Dystopian aesthetics—a refusal from 'nowhere'	182
	Index	195