

POSTAPOCALYPTIC FANTASIES
IN ANTEBELLUM AMERICAN LITERATURE

JOHN HAY
University of Nevada, Las Vegas

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

|   |          |
|---|----------|
| List of Illustrations  | page vii |
| Acknowledgments  | viii     |
| Introduction: A New World in Ruins  | I        |
| The Postapocalyptic Fantasy: Semi-Secular Timescapes  | 7        |
| Accelerated Decrepitude: Rapid Progress and Premature Agingin the New Republic          | 16       |
| Proleptic Historiography: America's Future Archaeologistsand Postapocalyptic Historians | 20       |
| Uncanny Historicism: Speculative Realism in Frontier Travel                                 | 26       |
| Science Fiction: Natural History and Postapocalyptic Fantasy                                | 29       |
| 1 The American Noah   | 36       |
| American Antiquity: James Kirke Paulding and the Native Noah                                | 47       |
| Descent from Ararat: Crossing the Allegheniesin Paulding's The Backwoodsman      | 56       |
| An Antebellum Antediluvian: Surviving the Flood   | 69       |
| 2 Narratives of Extinction and the Last Man   | 73       |
| Witness to Extinction: The Last Man   | 77       |
| The Last Man in America: James Fenimore Cooper's Adaptation                                 | 83       |
| A Nation in Ruins: Who Is the Last of the Mohicans?                                  | 91       |
| Après Moi le Déluge: Coming to Terms with Cooper's The Crater                        | 98       |
| 3 The Magnificent Mound Builders  | 113      |
| Mounds Mania: The Ancient Heartland Empire  | 115      |
| Breaking the Form of "The Prairies": William Cullen Bryant'sArchaeological Sublime      | 122      |
| All Abuzz: Nature, Artifice, and the Humble Bee   | 127      |
| Managing the Landscape: Bryant among the Trees  | 135      |
| 4 History Unearthed   | 143      |
| New Views: The Postapocalyptic Topographies of DomesticTravel Writing                   | 146      |

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| The American Holy Land: John Lloyd Stephens's Mayan Excursions                     | 154 |
| The Step-Mother World: Hawthorne's "New Adam and Eve"in Postapocalyptic Boston | 166 |
| Conclusion   | 173 |
| 5 Contact at Ktaadn  | 175 |
| Ruins Already: Thoreau's Tocquevillean Epiphany                                    | 180 |
| The Dustbin of History: Thoreau, Parkman, and the Northern Frontier                | 190 |
| Contact! Carnac!: A Week on Ktaadn and the Merrimack River                         | 197 |
| Conclusion: Footprints in the Sand   | 205 |
| Conclusion: The Revolutionary Ruins of the New West                                | 213 |
| Postapocalyptic Postscript  | 224 |
| Frequently Cited Works  | 229 |
| Index   | 235 |