

Women for Hire

Prostitution and Sexuality in France after 1850

Alain Corbin

Translated by Alan Sheridan

Harvard University Press
Cambridge, Massachusetts
London, England
1990

Contents

Preface to the English-Language Edition	vii
Preface to the Original Edition	xvi
Translator's Note	xviii
Part I. The Regulationist Project and Enclosed Prostitution
1. The Regulationist Argument	3
2. The Enclosed World of Regulationism	30
Part II. From Confinement to Surveillance
3. The Failure of Regulationism	115
4. Sexual Privation and the Demand for Prostitution	186
5. The System Challenged	214
Part III. The Victory of the New Strategies
6. The Need for Surveillance	261
7. The De Facto Triumph of Neoregulationism	310
8. The Twentieth Century: The New Economy of Bodies	331
Notes	371
Bibliography	445
Index	469