

Olga Beloborodova
Dirk Van Hulle • Pim Verhulst
Editors

Beckett and Modernism

palgrave
macmillan

CONTENTS

Introduction
Negative Modernism: Beckett's Poetics of Pejorism and Literary Enactment	1
Dirk Van Hulle
How Beckett Has Modified Modernism: From Beckett to Blanchot and Bataille	19
Jean-Michel Rabaté
From Language Revolution to Literature of the Unword: Beckett as Late Modernist	37
Shane Weller
Late and Belated Modernism: Duchamp...Stein.Feininger.. Beckett	53
Conor Carville
Beckett and Joyce: Two Nattering Nabobs of Negativity	69
Sam Slote

- Beckett, Lewis, Joyce: Reading Dream of Fair to Middling Women through The Apes of God and *Ulysses 81
José Francisco Fernández
- ‘Omniscience and omnipotence’: Molloy and the End of ‘Joyceology’ 95
Andy Wimbush
- ‘A new occasion, a new term of relation’: Samuel Beckett and T. S. Eliot 111
William Davies
- ‘The gantelope of sense and nonsense run’: Echo’s Bones and Other Precipitates in the 1930s 129
Onno Kusters
- Schenectady Putters and Leaving Certificate Ta-Tas: Satirizing Irish Nation-Building in ‘Echo’s Bones’ 147
Feargal Whelan
- Samuel Beckett’s ‘Le Concentrisme’ and the Modernist Literary Hoax 161
Paul Fagan
- Theoretical and Theatrical Intersections: Samuel Beckett, Herbert Blau, Civil Rights, and the Politics of *Godot 179
S. E. Gontarski
- Samuel Beckett and Modern Dance 193
Evelyne Clavier
- ‘Execrations on another plane’: Film Theory in Close Up and Beckett’s Late Prose 209
Galina Kiryushina

‘Temporarily sane’: Beckett, Modernism, and the Ethics of Suicide	223
Ulrika Maude
Broadcasting the Mind: Extended Cognition in Beckett’s Radio Plays	239
Olga Beloborodova and Pim Verhulst
References	259
Index	283