

Worlds So Strange and Diverse

*Towards a Genological
Taxonomy of Non-mimetic
Literature*

By

Grzegorz Trębicki

Cambridge
Scholars
Publishing

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction .....	1
--------------------	---

Part I

Chapter One.....	12
------------------	----

The Great Taxonomical Confusion

1. Popular, Literary-Critical and Genological Discourses
2. The Fantastic and Fantasy Literature

Chapter Two .....	27
-------------------	----

Taxonomies of Non-mimetic Literature

1. A Multitude of Approaches
2. Popular Notions and Taxonomies
3. Thematic Classifications of Non-mimetic Literature
4. Literary-Critical and Theoretical Taxonomies of Non-Mimetic Literature

Chapter Three .....	56
---------------------	----

Towards a Genological Taxonomy of Non-mimetic Literature: Supragenological Types of Fiction

Part II

Chapter Four.....	70
-------------------	----

Contemporary Exomimetic Fiction

1. The Exomimetic Mode
2. Science Fiction vs. Secondary World Fantasy: Sister Exomimetic Genres
3. Science Fantasy – Towards New Forms of Exomimetic Literature
4. Dystopia, Cyberpunk and Beyond

Chapter Five .....	111
Contemporary Antimimetic Fiction
1. The Antimimetic Mode
2. The Contemporary Magical Novel and Beyond
3. Multi-universes
Chapter Six .....	135
Contemporary Fantastic Fiction
1. The Fantastic Mode
2. Contemporary Horror
Chapter Seven.....	151
Contemporary Paramimetic Fiction
Chapter Eight.....	155
Metaconventional Non-mimetic Fiction
Conclusions .....	163
Appendix .....	168
Genological Categories of Contemporary Non-mimetic Literature
Bibliography .....	185
Index.....	207