

CONTENTS

	Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction.	The Rise of Cultural Nationalism and its Musical Expressions William H. Beezley	1
Chapter 1.	Music and National Identity in Mexico, 1919–1940 William H. Beezley	29
Chapter 2.	La Hora Industrial vs. La Hora Intima : Mexican Music and Broadcast Media Before 1934 Sonia Robles	45
Chapter 3.	Guatemalan National Identity and Popular Music William H. Beezley	67
Chapter 4.	Cuban Music: Afro-Cubanism Alejo Carpentier	81
Chapter 5.	An Accidental Hero [Cuban Singer in the Special Period] Jan Fairley	93
Chapter 6.	Cuzcatlán (El Salvador) and Maria de Baratta's Nahualismo Robin Sacolick	97
Chapter 7.	Cumandá: A Leitmotiv in Ecuadorian Operas? Musical Nationalism and Representation of Indigenous People Ketty Wong	129
Chapter 8.	Dueling Bandoneones: Tango and Folk Music in Argentina's Musical Nationalism Carolynne Ryan Larson	149

Chapter 9.	Carnival as Brazil's "Tropical Opera": Resistance to Rio's Samba in the Carnivals of Recife and Salvador, 1960s–1970s	179
	Jerry D. Metz Jr.
Chapter 10.	The Opera Manchay Puytu : A Cautionary Tale Regarding Mestizos in Twentieth-Century Highland Bolivia	219
	E. Gabrielle Kuenzli
Chapter 11.	Sounding Modern Identity in Mexican Film	227
	Janet Sturman and Jennifer Jenkins
	Contributors	255
	Index	259