

Contents

1	Introduction: Why Impulses? . . . . .	1
1.1	The Motivations . . . . .	1
1.2	Why Impulse Controls? . . . . .	2
1.2.1	The Mathematical Nature . . . . .	2
1.3	Physical Nature . . . . .	5
1.3.1	The Physical Nature . . . . .	5
1.4	Notations and Preliminaries . . . . .	9
	References . . . . .	10
 Part I Ordinary Impulses
2	Open-Loop Impulse Control . . . . .	15
2.1	Linear Systems: Open-Loop Control Under Ordinary Impulses . . . . .	15
2.2	The Impulse Control Problem . . . . .	17
2.3	Reachability Under Impulse Controls: Direct Solutions . . . . .	18
2.4	Solution of the Problem . . . . .	24
2.4.1	In the Absence of Controllability . . . . .	30
2.4.2	Controlling a Subset of Coordinates . . . . .	30
2.4.3	The Problem with Set-Valued Boundary Conditions . . . . .	31
2.5	Time-Optimal Impulse Control . . . . .	32
2.5.1	Scheme A . . . . .	33
2.5.2	Scheme B . . . . .	34
2.6	The Mayer–Bolza Problem with Controls as Measures . . . . .	36
2.7	Examples . . . . .	38
	References . . . . .	41
3	Closed-Loop Impulse Control . . . . .	43
3.1	Feedback Solutions and the HJB Equation . . . . .	43
3.1.1	The Problem and the Value Function . . . . .	43

3.1.2	The Hamilton–Jacobi–Bellman Equation . . . . .	48
3.1.3	The Control Law . . . . .	52
3.1.4	Reachability and Solvability Through Dynamic Programming . . . . .	56
3.2	The Problem of Feedback Control Under Impulses . . . . .	58
3.2.1	The Problem . . . . .	58
3.2.2	Constructive Motions . . . . .	62
3.2.3	Space-Time Transformation . . . . .	63
3.3	Examples . . . . .	64
3.4	Solvability (Backward Reachability) and the Construction of Invariant Sets . . . . .	69
3.4.1	The HJB Equation . . . . .	70
3.4.2	Equations of the Backward Reach Set . . . . .	73
3.5	Stabilization by Impulses . . . . .	74
	References . . . . .	75
4	Impulse Control Under Uncertainty . . . . .	77
4.1	The Problem of Impulse Control Under Uncertainty . . . . .	77
4.2	The HJBI Equation . . . . .	79
4.2.1	The Principle of Optimality Under Uncertainty . . . . .	80
4.2.2	The Hamilton–Jacobi–Bellman–Isaacs Equation . . . . .	84
4.3	Calculating Value Functions Under Uncertainty . . . . .	90
4.3.1	Min max and Max min Value Functions . . . . .	91
4.3.2	Value Function with Corrections . . . . .	94
4.3.3	The Closed-Loop Value Function . . . . .	95
4.4	A 1D Impulse Control Problem . . . . .	96
4.4.1	An Open-Loop Min max Value Function in 1D . . . . .	96
4.4.2	A Value Function with Corrections in 1D . . . . .	98
4.4.3	The Closed-Loop Value Function in 1D . . . . .	99
4.4.4	An Example in 1D . . . . .	100
	References . . . . .	101
5	State-Constrained Impulse Control . . . . .	103
5.1	The Main Problem . . . . .	103
5.2	Open-Loop Impulse Control Under State Constraints . . . . .	104
5.3	The HJB Equation Under State Constraints . . . . .	110
5.4	Reachability Under State Constraints . . . . .	113
5.5	Backward Reachability and the Problem of Control Synthesis . . . . .	117
5.6	State-Constrained Control Under Uncertainty . . . . .	121
5.6.1	The Feedback Control Problem . . . . .	122
5.6.2	The Principle of Optimality and the HJBI Equation . . . . .	123
5.6.3	Open-Loop Min max and Max min Value Functions . . . . .	126

5.6.4	Backward Reachability Under Uncertainty and State Constraints . . . . .	130
5.6.5	Feedback Control Strategies Under Uncertainty and State Constraints . . . . .	133
	References . . . . .	136
6	State Estimation Under Ordinary Impulsive Inputs . . . . .	137
6.1	The Problem of Observation (Guaranteed Estimation) . . . . .	137
6.1.1	The Solution Scheme . . . . .	137
6.1.2	Duality of Observation and Control Under Ordinary Impulsive Inputs . . . . .	140
6.1.3	On-Line State Estimation. The Information Set . . . . .	142
6.2	Optimal Estimation Through Discrete Measurements . . . . .	145
6.2.1	Open-Loop Assignment of Measurement Times . . . . .	145
6.2.2	Closed-Loop Calculation of Information Sets . . . . .	148
6.2.3	Closed-Loop Estimation Under Given Observation Times . . . . .	150
6.2.4	Calculating the Information Set. Ellipsoidal Method . . . . .	152
6.3	Closed-Loop Control Under Incomplete Measurements . . . . .	153
6.3.1	The System and the Information Set . . . . .	153
6.3.2	The Problem of Output Feedback Control . . . . .	155
6.3.3	The Dynamic Programming Approach . . . . .	158
	References . . . . .	160

Part II Impulses of Higher Order. Realizability and Fast Control

7	The Open-Loop and Closed-Loop Impulse Controls . . . . .	163
7.1	Linear Systems Under Higher Order Controls: The Problems . . . . .	163
7.2	Solutions. Controllability in Zero Time. Ultrafast Controls . . . . .	165
7.2.1	The Open-Loop Solution . . . . .	165
7.2.2	The Types of Open-Loop Control . . . . .	167
7.3	Reduction to First-Order Systems Under Vector Measures. . . . .	167
7.4	HJB Theory and High-Order Impulsive Feedback . . . . .	169
7.5	Reduction to the "Ordinary" Impulse Control Problem . . . . .	171
7.6	Reachability Under High-Order Impulse Controls . . . . .	172
	References . . . . .	176
8	State-Constrained Control Under Higher Impulses . . . . .	179
8.1	The Problem of State-Constrained Control . . . . .	179
8.1.1	Solvability of Problem 8.1 . . . . .	182
8.1.2	Optimization of the Generalized Control. The Maximum Principle . . . . .	187

8.1.3	A Reciprocal Problem of Optimization . . . . .	190
References	. . . . .	191
9	State Estimation and State Constrained Control . . . . .	193
9.1	Guaranteed State Estimation Under High-Order Inputs . . . . .	193
9.2	The Duality Principle—A Dual Interpretation . . . . .	197
9.2.1	State Estimation Under Higher Impulses . . . . .	198
9.2.2	Control by Impulses of Higher Order—The Duality Principle . . . . .	199
9.3	Estimation and Control Under Smooth Inputs . . . . .	201
9.3.1	The Problem of Observation . . . . .	201
9.3.2	The Problem of State-Constrained Smooth-Input Control . . . . .	205
References	. . . . .	209
10	Generalized Duality Theory. The Increasing and Decreasing Lagrangian Scales . . . . .	211
10.1	Duality in the Mathematical Sense . . . . .	211
10.2	Duality Scale in Problems of State-Constrained Impulse Control . . . . .	212
10.3	Duality Scale in Problems of Guaranteed State Estimation . . . . .	217
10.4	Duality in the System Sense—Between Problems of Control and Estimation . . . . .	221
10.4.1	Problems Under Ordinary Impulses . . . . .	221
10.4.2	Problems Under Impulses of Higher Order . . . . .	224
10.4.3	Problems Under Smooth Inputs . . . . .	227
References	. . . . .	231
11	Realistic Controls . . . . .	233
11.1	Dynamic Programming Under Double Constraints . . . . .	233
11.1.1	Control Under Double Constraints . . . . .	233
11.1.2	From Ideal Impulse Control to Realistic . . . . .	235
11.2	Convergence of Realistic Solutions to Ideal Impulsive Feedback . . . . .	238
11.3	Delta-Like Approximating Sequences . . . . .	240
11.3.1	Discontinuous Approximations . . . . .	241
11.3.2	The Growth Rate of Fast Controls . . . . .	241
References	. . . . .	243
12	Closed-Loop Fast Controls . . . . .	245
12.1	HJB Equation Types for Fast Controls . . . . .	245
12.2	Fast Controls Under Uncertainty . . . . .	247
12.3	Disturbance Attenuation. Error Estimates . . . . .	248
12.3.1	The Problem . . . . .	248
12.3.2	Generalized Controls . . . . .	249

12.3.3	An Example . . . . .	251
12.3.4	Control Inputs for the Original System . . . . .	252
12.4	Other Examples . . . . .	257
	References . . . . .	263
	Appendix A: Uniqueness of Viscosity Solutions . . . . .	265
	Index . . . . .	273