

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations viii

Acknowledgements x

Foreword Gordon McMullan and Philip Mead xiv

Introduction 1

- 1 Prologue: The Shakespeare Memorial National Theatre events, 1910–12: Festivity, bardolatry, (re)constructing Shakespeare 19
- 2 ‘What Ho! For Shakespeare, when we get back to Blighty!’: Commemorating Shakespeare in wartime 61
- 3 Performing Englishness: The Shakespeare Hut for Anzacs 87
- 4 Performing femininity: Women at the Shakespeare Hut 129
- 5 After the war: 1919–23 167
- 6 Epilogue: Forgetting and ‘remembering’ the Shakespeare Hut, 1924–2016: Festivity, bardolatry and (re)constructing ‘memory’ 195

Notes 223

Bibliography 253

Index 261