

CONTENTS

1	Britain and the Holocaust: An Introduction Tom Lawson and Andy Pearce	1
Part I Political Contexts
2	British Interwar Fascism and Anti-fascism Daniel Tilles	37
3	The Agenda of British Refugee Policy, 1933–48 Louise London	57
Part II Refugees in Britain: 1933–39
4	The Immigration and Reception of Jewish Refugees from the Third Reich Anthony Grenville	75
5	‘I Remember Their Labels Round Their Necks’ Britain and the Kindertransport Andrea Hammel	93
Part III War and Holocaust
6	Knowledge in Britain of the Holocaust During the Second World War Michael Fleming	115

7	The Unlikely Tale of a Hero Named Coward: Uncomfortable Truths and the Necessary War Russell Wallis	135
8	Belsen and the British Dan Stone	153
Part IV Punishment and Memory
9	'Where, Exactly, Is Auschwitz?' British Confrontation with the Holocaust Through the Medium of the 1945 'Belsen' Trial Caroline Sharples	181
10	Campaigning for Justice: Anti-Fascist Campaigners, Nazi-Era Collaborator War Criminals and Britain's Failure to Prosecute, 1945–1999 Siobhán Hyland and Paul Jackson	201
11	Selective Histories: Britain, the Empire and the Holocaust Michelle Gordon	219
Part V Cultural Representations
12	Beyond the Cesspit Beneath: The BBC and the Holocaust James Jordan	243
13	British Cinema and the Holocaust Barry Langford	261
14	British Holocaust Literature Sue Vice	281
Part VI The Holocaust in British Society
15	A Defining Decade? Swastikas, Eichmann and Arson in 1960s Britain Nigel Copsey	303

16	The Legacy of the Holocaust, Jewish History and British Antisemitism: The ‘Jew Murderer’ and the Murder of the Jews	325
	Tony Kushner
17	‘I Belong Here. I Know I Ought Never to Have Come Back, Because It Has Proved I’ve Never Been Away’: Kitty Hart-Moxon’s Documentaries of Return	347
	Isabel Wollaston
 Part VII Public Pedagogy
18	Holocaust Education in England: Concerns, Controversies and Challenges	367
	Stuart Foster
19	Holocaust Representation in the Imperial War Museum, 2000–2020	389
	Hannah Holtschneider
20	Negotiating Memory and Agency: David Cesarani and the Imperial War Museum’s Holocaust Exhibition (2000)	405
	Chad McDonald
 Part VIII Institutional Memory
21	From Celebrating Diversity to British Values: The Changing Face of Holocaust Memorial Day in Britain	429
	Kara Critchell
22	Visions of Permanence, Realities of Instability: The Prime Minister’s Holocaust Commission and the United Kingdom Holocaust Memorial Foundation	449
	David Tollerton
 Part IX Postscript
23	Britishness, Brexit, and the Holocaust	469
	Andy Pearce
	Index	507