

CONTENTS

Abbreviations	ix
Preface	xi
1 TYPES OF APPROACHES TO HOLOCAUST SUFFERING
Practical Responses as Alternatives to Theodicy	1
Theoretical Theodicy	2
Continental Alternatives to Theodicy	7
Kant's Practical Turn	12
From Theoretical Theodicy to Practical Faith	16
Hegel's Hubris: Theodicy Revived	17
Hegel as Prototypical Target of Critique	20
2 EXISTENTIAL ENCOUNTER WITH EVIL Gabriel Marcel's
Response to Suffering as a Trial	23
Problem and Mystery in Philosophy	25
Marcel's Objections to the Theodicy Problem	27
Faith and Hope: The Discovery of Meaning in Suffering	30
Relation to the Thou: Availability and Fidelity	30
Suffering as a Trial	31
Hope, Transcendence, and Immortality	33
Acceptance of Suffering	34
The Limitations of Marcel's Approach after Auschwitz	36
3 DIALOGICAL FAITH Martin Buber's I-Thou Response
to Suffering and Its Meaning	39
The Dichotomy between I-It and I-Thou Attitudes	40
God-Language within the Limits of I-Thou Relation	42

	A Narrative Faith Response to Suffering	46
	Hasidic Narratives of Suffering and Redemption	47
	The Book of Job	49
	The Eclipse of God and the Holocaust	51
	Post-Holocaust Faith in God	53
4	MARXIST THEORY AND PRACTICE Scientific and Humanist Marxism	55
	Marx's Materialist Method	56
	Materialist Analysis of History	56
	Social Class and Suffering	58
	Ideology Critique	58
	The Cold Stream: Scientific Marxism	59
	The Warm Stream: Humanist Marxism	60
	Modified Materialism	61
	Hope: The Rejection of Determinist Teleology	63
5	FAITH AS HOPE IN HISTORY Ernst Bloch and Political Post-Holocaust Theology	65
	Suffering in History: Against Teleological Theodicy	65
	Hope as Political Vision and Real Possibility: Resistance to Suffering	67
	Religious Faith as the Praxis of Hope	70
	Apolitical Christianity and Political Faith	70
	Moses and Job: Heroes of the Hebrew Bible	71
	Jesus and the Immanence of God's Kingdom	74
	Hope and Suffering in Jürgen Moltmann's Post-Holocaust Theology	75
	Theology of Hope	76
	Divine Suffering after Auschwitz	77
	Marxian Hope as Eschatology	79
6	SOLIDARITY AND RESISTANCE Johann Baptist Metz's Theodicy-Sensitive Response to Suffering	81
	Metz's Critiques of Bourgeois Subjectivity and Existentialist Theology	83
	Theodicy and the Effacement of Suffering in History	86
	Theodicy and Bourgeois Apathy	87
	Auschwitz and Anti-Theodicy	87
	Objections to Divine Suffering	88
	Metz's Political Faith: Dangerous Memory and Solidarity	90
	Biblical Narrative as Memory	90
	The Functions of Religious Memory	91
	A Theodicy-Sensitive Response to Suffering after Auschwitz	93

7	PRAGMATICS, EXISTENTIAL AND POLITICAL Comparison, Contrast, and Complementarity	97
	Contrasting Personal and Political Approaches	98
	Situating Suffering in “Existence” and “History”	99
	The Religious Posture of Hope	101
	The Religious Posture toward Other Persons: I-Thou Relation or Solidarity	105
	Complementarity between Political and Existentialist Approaches: The Practical Insights of Contextual Liberation and Post-Holocaust Responses to Suffering	107
	Memory	109
	Solidarity	113
	Hope	117
	Mystical Faith	122
8	BEYOND THEODICY Evaluating Theodicy From a Practical Perspective	129
	The Possibility and Appropriateness of Theodicy	130
	Practical Faith in God	130
	The Epistemic Impossibility of Theodicy	132
	The Moral Scandal of Theodicy	135
	Guidelines for Faith Responses to Evil and Suffering after Auschwitz	138
	Epistemic Humility	139
	Moral Sensitivity	140
	Religious Practice	141
	Narrative Memory	141
	Notes	145
	Selected Bibliography	175
	Index	189