

Contents

List of Figures and Tables VII

Notes on Contributors VIII

Editors' Introduction: Once Again, Medieval Philosophy and Phenomenology 1

Daniele De Santis and Anna Tropa

- 1 Aquinas on Conscience and Consciousness 10
Dominik Perler
- 2 Duns Scotus and Unexplained Intentionality 33
Giorgio Pini
- 3 John Duns Scotus on the Human Cognition of Singulars in the Present State 50
Anna Tropa
- 4 "How Many Angels": Scotus, Stein, and Love of Singularity 74
Andrew LaZella
- 5 Intentionality as Vital Striving? Edith Stein and Thomas Aquinas 109
Therese Scarpelli Cory
- 6 "Principia Individuationis": Edith Stein between Early Phenomenology, Aquinas, and Scotus 135
Daniele De Santis
- 7 Essential Being or Unity Less than Numerical Unity? Stein and Scotus on the Universal 164
Sarah Borden Sharkey
- 8 The Human Person and the Problem of Its Constitutive Layers: Edith Stein's Phenomenological and Scholastic Positions 182
Antonio Calcagno

- 9 Stein on Forms of Affective Intentionality 201
Ingrid Vendrell Ferran
- 10 The Intentionality of Matter: the Personal Character of Nature in Edith
Stein's Potency and Act 224
Francesco Valerio Tommasi
- Index 241