

CONTENTS

Foreword	7
----------	---

PART I

Interpreting the Word

1. Walter Brueggemann, Imagination as a Mode of Fidelity	13
2. Ben C. Ollenburger, Biblical Theology: Situating the Discipline	37
3. Roland E. Murphy, O. Carm., The Song of Songs: Critical Biblical Scholarship vis-à-vis Exegetical Traditions	63

PART II

The Word and Israel's Scriptures

4. Hugh C. White, Reuben and Judah: Duplicates or Complements?	73
5. Edgar W. Conrad, The Community as King in Second Isaiah	99
6. George W. Coats, Lot: A Foil in the Abraham Saga	113
7. Katharine Doob Sakenfeld, Theological and Redactional Problems in Numbers 20.2-13	133
8. J.J.M. Roberts, Amos 6.1-7	155
9. Murray L. Newman, Rahab and the Conquest	167

PART III

The Word and the World

- | | | |
|-----|---|-----|
| 10. | Paul D. Hanson, Conflict in Ancient Israel and Its Resolution | 185 |
| 11. | Claus Westermann, The Old Testament's Understanding of History in Relation to that of the Enlightenment | 207 |
| 12. | Phyllis Tribble, The Other Woman: A Literary and Theological Study of the Hagar Narratives | 221 |
| 13. | Walther Zimmerli, The 'Land' in the Pre-exilic and Early Post-exilic Prophets | 247 |

PART IV

Appropriating the Word

- | | | |
|-----|--|-----|
| 14. | Daniel L. Migliore, Barth and Bloch on Job: A Conflict of Interpretations | 265 |
| 15. | D. Preman Niles, The Word of God and the People of Asia | 281 |
| 16. | J. Paul Sampley, Romans and Galatians: Comparison and Contrast | 315 |
| 17. | Howard Clark Kee, Messiah and the People of God | 341 |
| 18. | J. Christiaan Beker, Paul's Letter to the Romans as a Model for Biblical Theology: Some Preliminary Observations | 359 |
| | Writings of Bernhard W. Anderson | 369 |
| | Index of Biblical Citations | 377 |
| | Index of Authors | 385 |