

CONTENTS.

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | PAGE    |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| ABBREVIATIONS . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | xi-xiii |
| INTRODUCTION . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | I-II 6  |
| I. THE EPISTLE . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | I-74    |
| § 1. THE PURPOSE AND CONTENTS OF THE EPISTLE . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2-5     |
| (a) Purpose, p. 2; (b) Contents, pp. 2-5.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |         |
| § 2. THE LITERARY TYPE OF THE EPISTLE OF JAMES . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 6-18    |
| Epistle, pp. 6-10; Diatribe, pp. 10-16; Wisdom-litera-ture, pp. 16-17; Protrepticus, p. 18.                                                                                                                                                                               |         |
| § 3. LITERARY RELATIONSHIPS . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 18-24   |
| (a) Wisdom-literature, pp. 18f.; (b) Other Jewishworks; Apostolic Fathers, pp. 19-21; (c) New Testa-ment books, pp. 21-23.                                                                                                                                            |         |
| § 4. LANGUAGE . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 24-27   |
| § 5. THE IDEAS AND HISTORICAL BACKGROUND OF THEEPISTLE . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 27-43   |
| (a) The ideas, pp. 28-39; (b) The situation, pp. 39-43.                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |         |
| § 6. THE ORIGIN OF THE EPISTLE . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 43-52   |
| (a) History of opinion as to the author, pp. 43-47;(b) Conclusions, pp. 47-52.                                                                                                                                                                                            |         |
| APPENDIX ON JAMES THE LORD'S BROTHER AND OTHERPERSONS NAMED JAMES . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                               | 53-74   |
| § 1. New Testament persons named James, pp. 53f. § 2.The history of opinion, pp. 54-59. § 3. The decisiveconsiderations, pp. 59-62. § 4. The tradition con-cerning James the Lord's brother. (a) The NewTestament, pp. 62-64. (b) Other tradition, pp. 64-74. |         |
| II. TEXT . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 74-86   |
| § 1. GREEK MANUSCRIPTS . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 74-75   |
| § 2. VERSIONS . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 75-84   |
| § 3. USE OF THE AUTHORITIES . . . . .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         | 84-86   |

|                                                          | PAGE    |
|----------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| III. HISTORY OF THE EPISTLE IN THE CHURCH . . . .        | 86-109  |
| § 1. ABSENCE OF MENTION IN WRITERS BEFORE ORIGEN . . . . | 87-92   |
| § 2. THE GREEK CHURCH . . . . .                          | 92-95   |
| § 3. THE SYRIAN CHURCH . . . . .                         | 96-100  |
| § 4. THE WESTERN CHURCH . . . . .                        | 100-103 |
| § 5. ORDER OF THE CATHOLIC EPISTLES . . . . .            | 103-104 |
| § 6. LATER HISTORY . . . . .                             | 104-109 |
| IV. COMMENTARIES, ANCIENT AND MODERN . . . . .           | 110-115 |
| § 1. PATRISTIC AND MEDIÆVAL . . . . .                    | 110-113 |
| (a) Greek, pp. 110-112; (b) Latin, pp. 112 f.;           |         |
| (c) Syriac, p. 113.                                      |         |
| § 2. MODERN . . . . .                                    | 113-115 |
| COMMENTARY . . . . .                                     | 117-316 |
| CHAPTER I . . . . .                                      | 117-185 |
| παῖς in the singular , pp. 129-131.               |         |
| The meaning of crowns , pp. 150-152.              |         |
| The text of 1<sup>17</sup> , pp. 162-164.         |         |
| CHAPTER II . . . . .                                     | 185-225 |
| CHAPTER III . . . . .                                    | 226-251 |
| The wheel of nature , pp. 236-239.                |         |
| CHAPTER IV . . . . .                                     | 252-282 |
| "If the Lord will," pp. 279-280.                  |         |
| CHAPTER V . . . . .                                      | 282-316 |
| The reprobation of swearing , pp. 301-303.        |         |
| Anointing with oil , pp. 305-307.                 |         |
| INDEX . . . . .                                          | 317-319 |