

Contents

Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
Part I Early Ideas About Self-starvation and Anorexia Nervosa	13
1 From Religion to Madness: Religious and Medical Interpretations of Self-starvation	13
2 The Late Nineteenth Century Medical Discovery of Anorexia Nervosa	26
3 Early Social, Cultural and Feminist Theories of Anorexia Nervosa	45
Part II Health Care Workers' Constructions of Anorexia Nervosa	66
4 Constructions of Gender and Identity in Anorexia Nervosa	69
5 The Multiplicity and Diversity of Causes of Anorexia Nervosa	81
6 Clinical Treatments for Anorexia Nervosa	90
Part III Postmodernism, the Body and Therapy: Implications for Practice
7 Anorexia Nervosa, Postmodern Readings of the Body and Narrative Therapy	99
8 Self, Psychology and Participation in the Public Domain	121
References	131
Index	137