

Essays on Customer Lifetime Value: Research Findings, Practitioner Insights, and its Application as Performance Measure

Inauguraldissertation

zur Erlangung des akademischen Grades eines Doktors der Wirtschaftswissenschaften durch die Wirtschaftswissenschaftliche Fakultät
der Universität Münster

vorgelegt von

Sophie Christine Jansen

1 Table of Contents

|                                                                                                                                |      |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| 1 Table of Contents .....                                                                                                      | III  |
| 2 List of Figures .....                                                                                                        | VIII |
| 3 List of Tables.....                                                                                                          | IX   |
| 4 Abbreviations in Text.....                                                                                                   | XI   |
| 5 List of Appendices.....                                                                                                      | XIII |
| 6 Synopsis.....                                                                                                                | 1    |
| 6.1 Introduction .....                                                                                                         | 1    |
| 6.2 Integrative Framework of the Dissertation.....                                                                             | 3    |
| 6.3 Deriving the Research Gaps and their Practical Motivation .....                                                            | 5    |
| 6.4 Dissertation Studies and Summary of Results .....                                                                          | 10   |
| 6.4.1 Study 1: Understanding the Drivers of Customer Lifetime Value: AComprehensive Literature Review .....                | 12   |
| 6.4.2 Study 2: Customer Lifetime Value and its Lag in Implementation -A Two-sided Issue .....                              | 13   |
| 6.4.3 Study 3: Organic Products: Enhancing Retailers' EnvironmentalSustainability and Driving Customer Profitability ..... | 15   |
| 6.4.4 Summary of the Dissertation.....                                                                                         | 18   |
| 6.5 Personal Contribution.....                                                                                                 | 18   |
| 6.6 References Synopsis.....                                                                                                   | 20   |
| 7 Study 1: Understanding the Drivers of Customer Lifetime Value: AComprehensive Literature Review .....                    | 29   |

|                                                                                                           |    |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| 7.1 Introduction .....                                                                                    | 29 |
| 7.2 Foundations on CLV .....                                                                              | 33 |
| 7.2.1 Modeling the CLV.....                                                                               | 33 |
| 7.2.2 Previous Research on CLV .....                                                                      | 36 |
| 7.3 Literature Search and Selection Process .....                                                         | 42 |
| 7.4 Analyses and Findings.....                                                                            | 49 |
| 7.4.1 Descriptive Analyses.....                                                                           | 49 |
| 7.4.2 Findings.....                                                                                       | 52 |
| 7.4.2.1 How to Identify Opposing Effects when Stimulating CLVComponents .....                         | 52 |
| 7.4.2.2 Findings Regarding the Direction of Effects of Marketing MixActivities on CLV Components..... | 55 |
| 7.4.2.3 Causes for Opposing Effects when Stimulating Contribution .....                                   | 59 |
| 7.4.2.4 Causes for Opposing Effects when Stimulating Purchase Volume .....                                | 62 |
| 7.4.2.5 Causes for Opposing Effects when Stimulating Retention .....                                      | 66 |
| 7.4.2.4 Summary of the Findings .....                                                                     | 70 |
| 7.5 Discussion .....                                                                                      | 70 |
| 7.5.1 Need for Future Research.....                                                                       | 70 |
| 7.5.2 Managerial Implications.....                                                                        | 76 |
| 7.6 Conclusion.....                                                                                       | 77 |
| 7.7 References Study 1 .....                                                                              | 79 |

|                                                                    |     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 8 Study 2: Customer Lifetime Value and its Lag in Implementation - |     |
| A Two-sided Issue .....                                            | 96  |
| 8.1 Introduction .....                                             | 96  |
| 8.2 Conceptual Background .....                                    | 100 |
| 8.2.1 Related Constructs of CLV .....                              | 100 |
| 8.2.2 Previous Research on CLV and CRM.....                        | 106 |
| 8.3 Methodology .....                                              | 110 |
| 8.3.1 Approach and Data Collection .....                           | 110 |
| 8.3.2 Data Analysis and Analytical Rigor.....                      | 114 |
| 8.4 Findings .....                                                 | 117 |
| 8.4.1 Structural Factors .....                                     | 124 |
| 8.4.2 Analytical Skills .....                                      | 128 |
| 8.4.3 External Factors.....                                        | 130 |
| 8.4.4 Leadership and Mindset .....                                 | 132 |
| 8.4.5 Moderators.....                                              | 135 |
| 8.4.6 Advantages of CLV Implementation .....                       | 140 |
| 8.4.7 Disadvantages of CLV Implementation.....                     | 145 |
| 8.4.8 Deciding on Implementation .....                             | 148 |
| 8.5 Concluding Discussion.....                                     | 149 |
| 8.5.1 Managerial Implications.....                                 | 152 |
| 8.5.2 Research Implications .....                                  | 153 |
| 8.5.3 Limitations and Directions for Future Research .....         | 156 |

|                                                                                                                            |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 8.6 References Study 2 .....                                                                                               | 159 |
| 9 Study 3: Organic Products: Enhancing Retailers' EnvironmentalSustainability and Driving Customer Profitability ..... | 198 |
| 9.1 Introduction .....                                                                                                     | 198 |
| 9.2 Conceptual Foundation.....                                                                                             | 204 |
| 9.2.1 Characteristics of Customers Buying Organic Products .....                                                           | 208 |
| 9.2.2 Past Consumption Patterns and Reactions to the Marketing Mix fromCustomers Buying Organic Products.....          | 211 |
| 9.2.3 Literature Gap and Positioning of this Study .....                                                                   | 213 |
| 9.3 Empirical Setting.....                                                                                                 | 214 |
| 9.3.1 Motivation for Empirics-First .....                                                                                  | 214 |
| 9.3.2 Data .....                                                                                                           | 215 |
| 9.4 Research Methodology.....                                                                                              | 218 |
| 9.4.1 Dependent Variables .....                                                                                            | 218 |
| 9.4.2 Independent Variables.....                                                                                           | 219 |
| 9.4.3 Covariates.....                                                                                                      | 220 |
| 9.4.4 Model Specification .....                                                                                            | 225 |
| 9.4.5 Potential Endogeneity Issues.....                                                                                    | 230 |
| 9.5 Estimation and Results .....                                                                                           | 232 |
| 9.5.1 Results of Estimating the Purchase Incidence.....                                                                    | 235 |
| 9.5.2 Results of Estimating the Contribution .....                                                                         | 237 |
| 9.5.3 Results of Estimating the Revenue.....                                                                               | 239 |

|                                                                            |      |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| 9.5.4 Results of Estimating the Costs.....                                 | 240  |
| 9.5.5 Face Validity and Practical Significance.....                        | 242  |
| 9.5.6 Summary of Empirical Results.....                                    | 243  |
| 9.5.7 Robustness.....                                                      | 245  |
| 9.6 Discussion .....                                                       | 246  |
| 9.6.1 Discussion of Potential Explanations of the Empirical Findings ..... | 246  |
| 9.6.2 Academic Contribution .....                                          | 251  |
| 9.6.3 Implications for Retailers .....                                     | 253  |
| 9.6.4 Future Research and Limitations of the Study .....                   | 256  |
| 9.7 Conclusion.....                                                        | 262  |
| 9.8 References Study 3 .....                                               | 264  |
| 10 Appendices .....                                                        | XIII |
| 11 Curriculum Vitae .....                                                  | LIX  |
| 12 Eidesstattliche Versicherung .....                                      | LX   |