

The Men of 1924

Britain's First Labour Government

PETER CLARK

Contents

Introduction	I
 1. Tuesday, 22 January 1924	 5
The King and the Prime Minister – Cabinet Making – Contrasting Experiences – The Junta – Pride and Prejudice
 2. The Arrival of Labour	 21
Labour's Impact on the House of Commons in 1906 – The Emergence of a Working-Class Identity – The Political Classes and Reform – Trade Unions Become Political – The Independent Labour Party (ILP) – The Fabian Society – The Social Democratic Federation (SDF) – The Labour Representation Committee (LRC) – The Politics of 1906 and After
 3. From Pressure Group to Government in Waiting	 45
The Impact of the Great War – British Labour and the World – MacDonald and the Independent Labour Party (ILP) – Cross-Party Cooperation Against the War – Labour Enters the Government – Revolutionary Fervour – Responses to the Bolshevik Revolution – Labour Comes Together – Labour at the End of the War
 4. Steps to Downing Street	 69
The New Franchise – The 1918 General Election – The 1918 Parliament – The 1922 General Election – The 1922 Parliament – The Labour Party on the Eve of Office – The 1923 General Election – Final Steps to Office

5. The Leader	89
The Challenge of Writing About MacDonald – Lossiemouth – Bristol and London in the 1880s and 1890s – Husband and Widower – Party Leader and War-Time Dissident – Leader Again: Charisma and Vulnerabilities – Reaching Number 10 – MacDonald: Socialist and Socialite – Foreign Secretary – In Number 10
6. The Big Four	115
J. R. Clynes – Arthur Henderson – Philip Snowden – J. H. Thomas
7. Old Labour	143
William Adamson – Vernon Hartshorn – F. W. Jowett – Sydney Olivier – Thomas Shaw – Stephen Walsh – Sidney Webb – John Wheatley
8. New Labour	177
Noel Buxton – Viscount Chelmsford – Viscount Haldane – Lord Parmoor – Lord Thomson – Charles Trevelyan – Josiah Wedgwood
9. In Office but not in Power	207
January – February – March – April – May – June – July – August – September – October and the End
Notes	239
Acknowledgements	267
Bibliography	269