

Contents

FIG. 1 Jacob van Campen, Portrait of Pieter Saenredam. Inscribed: 'This was made by Monsieur Jacob van Campen after me, Pieter Saenredam, in the year 1628.' Black chalk, 26 x 18.2 cm. London, The British Museum (reproduced by courtesy of the Trustees of the British Museum).

Preface 7

- 1 A childhood in North Holland, 1597-1609 15
- 2 The move to Haarlem: school and apprenticeship, 1609-23 29
- 3 The history, description and praise of Haarlem, 1626-28 35
- 4 Choosing a specialty, 1628 51
- 5 The first paintings of Haarlem, 1628-33 57
- 6 Technique in perspective 79
- 7 Three pulpits of Johannes Junius: 's-Hertogenbosch and Assendelft, 1632-34 83
- 8 Secretary of the guild, 1633 101
- 9 The final campaign in the Bavokerk, 1634-37 105
- 10 Twenty weeks in Utrecht, 1636 131
- 11 Social maturity: husband, father, dean of the guild, 1638-42 169
- 12 Economic maturity 175
- 13 A humanist in the vernacular 181
- 14 Buildings of burgomasters, kings and princes, 1641-49 189
- 15 The New Church and the last church, 1650-65 215
- 16 A legacy accepted 239

Catalogue 251

Documents 300

Genealogies 311

Notes 319

Bibliography 337

Index 345