

Table of Contents

Part I Preliminaries

1. Introduction.	3
2. Some Subjective Difficulties.	9
3. Facts and Their Interpretation:
The Meaning of the Words.	16
4. Facts: A General Classification.	21
5. Observables and Unobservables.	24
6. How Unobservables Are Known and Named.	31
7. Behavior and Our Knowledge of Things:
The Most Important Facts.	39
8. Facts are Singulars.	43
9. The Need for Logic.	46

Part II The Business of Discovery

10. The Function and Foundation of Problems.	51
11. Questions about Properties and Behavior.	61
12. Questions about Things and Stuff.	67
13. Further Considerations on Problems.	72
14. Badly Formulated Questions.	78
15. Foundations for Solutions.	83
16. Other Foundations for Solutions.	89
17. Non-Foundations.	95

18. Arguments.	97
19. Beginning an Analysis.	104
20. A Sample Analysis.	107
21. The Way of Opposition.	115
22. Subject Matters Make A Difference.	120
23. Unargued Positions.	130
24. Epilogue to Parts I and II.	133

Part III
Logical Theory

25. Signs.	139
26. The Fundamental Logical Relation.	148
27. Kinds of Class Relations.	155
28. Categories.	166
29. Words and Significations.	169
30. A Way to Uncover Equivocations.	175
31. The Proposition.	177
32. Simple, Compound, Affirmative, Negative Propositions.	183
33. More About Subjects and Predicates.	190
34. The Quantification of Propositions.	195
35. Propositions and Existential Import.	204
36. Some Propositional Relations.	210
37. Modal Propositions.	220
38. Compound Propositions.	225
39. Syllogistic Argumentation: An Introduction.	231
40. A Definition and Some Axioms.	236
41. Figures of the Syllogism.	239
42. Syllogistic Terms and Moods.	242
43. Valid Moods of Figure II.	248
44. Valid Moods of Figure III.	254
45. Invalid Syllogistic Moods.	258
46. Procedures for Evaluating Moods.	262

47.	Extracting Syllogisms from their Context.	266
48.	Induction.	274
49.	The Content of Arguments.	279
50.	Definitions.	288
51.	Analytic Propositions and Hypotheses.	294
52.	Legitimate Uses of Invalid Syllogistic Moods:
	Arguments from Signs.	304
53.	Arguments by Analogy.	315
54.	Hypothetical Argumentation.	326
55.	Division and Classification:
	A Kind of Argumentation.	331
56.	Mathematics and Arguments
	in the Natural Sciences.	335
57.	The Subject of a Science: A Point of Focus.	340
58.	On Sophists and Sophistry.	343

Appendix

I.	Facts are Absolute.	365
II.	A Contemporary Interpretation
	of the Universal Proposition.	367

Part IV Readings

	Introduction.	373
1.	The Great Knock.	375
2.	Fortes Fortuna Adjuvat.	378
3.	Aristotle on Virtue.	383
4.	Herding.	387
5.	False Scorpions.	388
6.	The Luminescence of the Moon.	390

7. Inhibitions Toward Puppies.	392
8. The State and the Highest Good.	393
9. Proposition 32.	394
10. Why the Americans are so Restless in the Midst of Their Prosperity.	395
11. Julius Caesar, Act III, Scene II.	399
12. The Ice Fish.	401
13. The Federalist No. 28.	410
14. Appraisal of Current Trends in Business and Finance.	414
15. Cell Shape.	417
16. The Solid State.	420
17. The Nature of Matter.	423
18. Colliding Galaxies.	428
19. The Myth of Storytelling.	430
20. "Is Criticism Possible?"	434
21. Lucretius on Atoms.	437
22. Nephritis.	440
23. Acute Anxiety.	442
24. The Anatomy of Revolution.	443
25. How, When Conditions are Equal and Skepticism is Rife. It is Important to Direct Human Actions to Distant Objects.	444
26. Trade and Peace.	447
27. Imperialism.	449
28. The Sinai Covenant as the Deconsecration of Values.	453
29. The Nature of Man.	455
30. The First Philippic.	457
31. The Third Philippic.	459
32. Analysis of Reading 11.	462
33. Analysis of Reading 14.	463
34. Analysis of Reading 25.	465
Index.	469