

Contents

List of Maps and Tables .....	viii
Acknowledgments.....	ix
Introduction.....	x
Maps .....	xxxiii
Chapter 1. 1846: Not Just Bloody.....	1
The Story of Józef Boberski.....	4
The Story of Vasyl Vysochansky .....	7
A Clandestine Meeting .....	12
In the Priest's House.....	14
A Planned Assault on the Circle Capital .....	16
The Matkiv Case .....	17
Interpretation .....	22
Chapter 2. 1848: Languages of Emancipation .....	35
The National.....	36
The Legacy of Absolutism .....	44
The Social .....	53
Peasant Participation and Action .....	62
The Sambir Ruthenians .....	69
Chapter 3. The Politics of Property .....	76
Problems with Representations of the Servitudes .....	76
The Case of Bilyna Velyka .....	85
The Case of Lanovychi.....	88
The Morozovychi Case .....	91
The Galician Diet and the Issue of Servitudes.....	97
Servitudes and Ruthenians.....	105
Conclusions.....	113
Chapter 4. The Politics of Paternalist Populism: Priests and Texts in the Villages .....	115
A Vagabond from Hrushiv .....	115
Hrushiv: Background.....	117
The Party of St. George.....	123
Good Books Reach Galician Villages.....	126
The Kachkovsky Society .....	139
A Local Version of Enlightenment.....	145
From Peasants to Students.....	149
Temperance .....	153
Being Ruthenian in Sambir .....	161
Politics.....	169

Chapter 5. Correspondents .....	177
The Dobrivliany Affair .....	177
A New Generation .....	213
The Peasant Correspondent Appears .....	215
Reading Clubs .....	219
Petty Gentry .....	223
The Community of Morozovychi .....	225
Politics: Ethnicity and Authority .....	231
Capitalism .....	239
A National-Populist as Village Priest .....	242
The Turn to the “Social” .....	247
Chapter 6. A Peasant’s Voice .....	259
One Parish’s Interregnum .....	259
Morozovychi, Prosvita, and Mykhas’s Revolt .....	260
Mykhas in National and Radical Politics .....	269
The Elections of 1897 .....	279
Against Bobersky in Morozovychi .....	283
Peasants and the Party .....	292
Mykhas’s Downfall .....	299
Berehy .....	306
Chapter 7. Sustaining the Nation’s Body .....	317
A Frame for the National Public Sphere .....	317
The Fate of the Russophiles .....	332
The Peasant Class .....	337
Integrating the Petty Gentry .....	366
Conclusions .....	375
Appendices
Appendix 1. Members of the Vysotsko Ruthenian Council, 1848 .....	386
Appendix 2. Members of the Sambir Ruthenian Council, 1848 .....	387
Appendix 3. Kuzemsky’s Agents in the Sambir and Staryi Sambir Political Districts, 1861 .....	388
Appendix 4. Most Popular Prosvita Publications, 1875–77: Sales Figures .....	388
Appendix 5. List of Prolom Subscribers from the Sambir Area for 1881 .....	389
Appendix 6. Geography of Membership in the Sambir Prosvita Branch, 1891 .....	390
Appendix 7. Villages from which Electors Voted for Berezhnytsky in the 1895 Diet Elections .....	391
Appendix 8. Geography of Radicalism in the Region according to Subscribers to Hromads'kyi holos , 1896–97 .....	391
Appendix 9. Development of Prosvita, 1890–1912 .....	392
Appendix 10. Profile of Sambir District Prosvita Reading Clubs, 1905 .....	393

Appendix 11. Reading Clubs of the Sambir Prosvita Branch as of 1909.....	395
Appendix 12. Reading Clubs of the Staryi Sambir Prosvita Branch, 1910.....	397
Appendix 13. Peasant Membership of the Sambir Branch of the Kachkovsky Society as of 1900 .....	398
Appendix 14. Membership of the Sambir Branch of the Kachkovsky Society as of 1908 .....	399
Appendix 15. Membership of the Sambir Branch of the Kachkovsky Society as of 1908 .....	399
Bibliography.....	400
Index.....	427