

Queer Shakespeare

Desire and Sexuality

Edited by
Goran Stanivukovic

Bloomsbury Arden Shakespeare

An imprint of Bloomsbury Publishing Plc

B L O O M S B U R Y

LONDON • OXFORD • NEW YORK • NEW DELHI • SYDNEY

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements viii

A note about the text ix

Notes on contributors x

Introduction: Queer Shakespeare – desire and sexuality 1

Goran Stanivukovic

Part I Queer time

1 ‘Which is worthiest love’ in *The Two
Gentlemen of Verona?* 33

David L. Orvis

2 Glass: The Sonnets’ desiring object 51

John S. Garrison

3 The sport of asses: *A Midsummer
Night’s Dream* 69

Kirk Quinsland

4 As You Like It or What You Will: Shakespeare’s
Sonnets and Beccadelli’s Hermaphroditus 87

Ian Frederick Moulton

Part II Queer language

- 5 The queer language of size in Love's Labour's Lost 107
Valerie Billing
- 6 Locating queerness in Cymbeline 123
Stephen Guy-Bray
- 7 Desiring H: Much Ado About Nothing and the sound of women's desire 137
Holly Dugan
- 8 'Two lips, indifferent red': Queer styles in Twelfth Night 153
Goran Stanivukovic

Part III Queer nature

- 9 Queer nature, or the weather in Macbeth 177
Christine Varnado
- 10 Strange insertions in The Merchant of Venice 197
Eliza Greenstadt
- 11 Male femininity and male-to-female crossdressing in Shakespeare's plays and poems 227
Simone Chess

- 12 Held in common: Romeo and Juliet and the promiscuous seductions of plague 245
Kathryn Schwarz
- 13 Antisocial procreation in Measure for Measure 263
Melissa E. Sanchez
- Afterword 279
Vin Nardizzi
- Notes* 295
Bibliography 365
Index 397