

Climate and Literature

Reflections of Environment

Edited by Janet Pérez
and Wendell Aycock

Texas Tech University Press

Contents

Introduction	1
Writing the Bodies of Water: The Clash of the Lasting and the Catastrophic in the Odes of Horace Rosemary M. Nielsen and Robert H. Solomon	7
Climate as Science and Metaphor in the Writings of Jehuda Halevi Stephen T. Newmyer	19
Astral and Tidal Phenomena, Earthquake Prediction, and The Astronomical Clock of Juan de Barrenechea Robert J. Morris	29
Zola's Uses of Climate in The Land Wendell McClendon	43
The Role of Climate in Twentieth-Century Spanish American Fiction George R. McMurray	55
The Endless Rains of Death and Desolation in García Márquez's Short Stories Clementina R. Adams	65
Creating an Atmosphere: Depiction of Climate in the Works of Gabriel García Márquez Gary S. Elbow	73

The Weather as A Story Element in Four Short Works from Latin America Paul Nelson	83
Heat, Water, and Stars in Pedro Páramo Cida Chase	89
Ices Everlasting and Passions Perverted: The Physical and Moral Climate of Puig's Anti-Utopia Leonard A. Cheever	99
Influence of Climate on the Cultures of the Jungle as Perceived by Two Latin American Novelists Raquel Romeu	107
Climate and Identity in the Literature of the French Antilles Jack Jordan	115
Afro-Cuban Culture, Ecology, and Climate in "La comparsa" by Felipe Pichardo Moya Luis A. Jiménez	123
Notes on the Authors	131